School Tax Rate Cut

Full five year accreditation of Carmel High School was denied by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges visiting committee report of March, 1967, made public at last night's school board meeting. Many of the deficiencies were pointed out to the committee and are being rectified by the increase in budget afforded by the recent override of 37c per $100 of assessed property evaluation.

Until these deficiencies are taken care of, the High School is receiving only a two year accreditation. A member of the committee will visit the school some time during the next school year to see whether its recommendations have been carried out. Graduates of an unaccredited high school are unable to enter universities without examination.

The committee recommended immediate effort to develop a statement of philosophy and operational objectives appropriate to Carmel High School; that psychological services be improved; that counselors work load be reduced; that the administration provide support, follow-up, and leadership in updating curriculum; that instructional staff become less complacent and more actively involved and enthusiastic in updating instructional program; more clearly defined discipline policy with clearly marked lines of responsibility; that instruction guides be revised and expanded from mere skeleton outlines.

It further recommended that research be undertaken to determine maximum desirable number of students for the present site; that additional general education courses be designed to meet the needs of non-college students, especially in science and math; an immediate expansion of business and industrial education, homemaking, music, and drama; that a study be made to determine why students of high ability are not enrolled for third and fourth year courses; that community resources inventory be updated.

Other recommendations were that the staff assume greater responsibility for the upkeep of materials, equipment and facilities; that district study ways of improving custodial services by in-service, improved work habits, and increased supervision; that inadequate lighting in older parts of school be improved; and that the school consider the effect of bus transportation, the split lunch hour, and the eight period day on the student activities program.

The W.A.S.C. committee commended the recent community support of the override tax to correct long-overdue facility maintenance; the excellent class size; the increasing use of interdisciplinary activities (such as English, music and art or history); the excellent qualifications of the teachers and assignment within their area of concentration; the quality of guidance and counseling services.

It commended the interest shown by the district administration in curriculum improvement; the generous provision of instructional supplies and materials; and the instructional staff for its recognition of the failure of the philosophy as written by the board of education to meet the needs of the students.

After welcoming its new member, Richard Wilsdon, Carmel attorney, the board went over the

Dance-Drama-Music At Forest Theatre

Dance, drama, music will highlight this season's second summer Sunday afternoon program at Carmel's renowned Forest Theater.

The program will begin at two in the afternoon, and admission is free. Presented as a community event by the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, the program is under the supervision of former city arts commissioners Barbara Norberg, Mausita Jennings, and Joseph Danysh.

Distinguished choreographer Dale Lefler will present dancers Akemi Ito, Linda Cornish, and Tony Hyland in three modern jazz routines, while the noted ballerina, Kira Ivanovsky, has programmed three dances of a different kind by her advanced students.

Dramatic vignettes from Carmel

Studio Theater plays will be brought to life on the great outdoor stage at the Forest Theater, enacted by Milton Hays, Luann Brown, Anne Brown, Roger Osgood, Kathy Holly, and Ron Geren—all members of the casts of those plays.

Seaside's Academy of Music, headed by former German opera conductor, Axel Duwe, will present the afternoon's musical delights. Young pianist Jeff Kessler will perform the J. S. Bach Italian Concerto, and he will also be heard as flutist in a baroque ensemble. Other members of that ensemble will be another flutist, Erica Brown, and Jimmie Ree, pianist.

White Oaks Theatre Picks A Winner

What a pity, if you neglected to include in your week end schedule "110 in the Shade" at White Oaks Theatre in the Valley. You missed probably one of the most perfectly executed musical productions yet seen on the Peninsula.

A strong statement, maybe... but no stronger than the cast's interpretation of and concentration on its characters. From lead actress Jeanne Devine (Lizzie Curry) to the smallest non-speaking role of one of the townspeople, these capable young men and women handled their parts with professional exactness... never once sneaking a smile... or stealing a scene... or stepping on another's line. They were their character completely. When songs were sung, the meaning of the lyrics were explicit, a small thing that amateur actors or singers often forget. Their characters remained whether singing or acting.

"110" is the adaptation to music of "The Rainmaker" by N. Richard Nash, but far surpassed the dramatic production. Although the music is not so well known to the public, it is delightful and quite pleasing to the ear. The actors, or singers if you prefer, where especially varied and some notes were almost non-existent. The orchestra was made up merely of a piano, bass and drums, directed by Raymond Warren. Bass player Tom Janusz doubled as the harmonica player important to the opening of the play. On the drums was Greg Janusz.

Jeanne Devine, the young "plain Jane" who was encouraged by her family of brothers and father to find a husband, was at her best in the scenes with her leading man Michael S. Riordan (Bill Starbuck, the Rainmaker). They were expert together and carried their roles to perfection. Never did they seem to grope for lines or falter during moments when lines of the play, or song, were delivered. They were perfectly convincing. Lizzie had many outstanding songs, but the one which brought smiles from the audience came late in the first act... the light number of "Raunchy."

The whole play appeared to be running as smoothly as the play called for, but when Bill Starbuck, (Michael Riordan) the Rainmaker-con-artist made his entrance a spark of life came with him. From then on out, the cast picked up the tempo. His long, flowing lines were received with approval by the audience, and his scenes with Lizzie brought silence to the auditorium. When Riordan sang, his words meant something... when he spoke, not a word escaped the on-lookers... when he moved, he moved with authority and grace.

The brothers, Noah (John Rejean) and Jimmy (Ron Stark) and their father H. C. (Michael Byers) were determined to marry Lizzie off to the first thing that came along... even to the con-artist who promised the drought-stricken area RAIN. Rejean, who portrayed a hateful character, came across as being the mean and despicable, yet, in a way, tender brother. Though we didn't particularly care for this character, Rejean upheld his admirable interpretation throughout the evening.

Stark, playing the dumb little brother without a "lick of sense," couldn't keep his feet planted while delivering his lines, but then aren't all dumb little brothers fidgety? Stark's movement on stage, at the beginning, might have been a bit too graceful for a farm boy but he made up for any shortcomings in movement with his gay, carefree, boylike delivery, and the splendid singing voice he possesses.

Byers, the father who, like all fathers, wanted to see his daughter happy, was earnest in his movements and all his lines. It was hard to tell though if he was a young man made up to be old, or a middle aged actor. In either case, Byers WAS an old man in this play and was a good one at that.

Don Miller, who played the part of Sheriff File, really set the mood of a hot day when he sang the opening number "Another Hot Day" in a lazy baritone voice. His delivery was equally as lazy, as the role of Sheriff called for, which went along with the theme, "110 in the Shade."

We mustn't overlook a small bright spot in the musical. Snookie Updegraff, played by Lisa Ann Binney, was Jimmy's giggling, squeaky girl friend. She developed her character role to the ultimate and brought laughs and smiles from the audience everytime she spoke.

"110 in the Shade" of course had a few minor pitfalls but so negligible that they were immaterial to the overall success.

Shakespeare Festival

The second production of California Shakespeare Festival's three-play repertory opens at the Lifeboat Theatre, 2350 The Alameda, in Santa Clara on Friday (July 14).

Playing the title role in "Othello" will be Stephen D. Newman, whose Hamlet received high critical praise in last year's festival. "Othello" is directed by James Dunn, associate director of the festival. Newman is a member of the Stanford Repertory Theatre during the winter.

In the role of Iago, villain of the piece, will be Christopher Curtis, a four year veteran of the Festival, and a winter student at Carnegie Tech. Carolyn Dunn plays Desdemona, and Elizabeth Huddle, Emilia.

"The Comedy of Errors" opened last week and will alternate with "Othello" next week, until a revival of the company's smash hit, "The Taming of the Shrew" opens on July 21. All three then play in repertory nightly except Monday, with Saturday and Sunday matinees.

Ticket information may be obtained by addressing California Shakespeare Festival, University of Santa Clara, California 95053; phone (408) 246-4446.

"110" will alternate with other productions for the rest of the summer.

"Hedda Gabler" Plays At Circle Theatre

"Hedda Gabler" returns to the Circle Theatre on July 18 and 19. Second in the summer series by "Repertory '67," this play has just completed a successful tour throughout Northern California. Norman McPhee, director of the Community Theatre, adapted Henrik Ibsen's forceful drama for presentation at the Circle.

As a restless and self-willed woman, Hedda presents a daring portrait to many of her sisters in the Western world. With a bold and ruthless style, she manipulates her husband and friends in a senseless power struggle.

Marcia Garbrell Hovick stars as Hedda; Cal Schlesinger plays her husband, George; Robert Heater is cast as Judge Brack; Bill Withers is Elbert Lovborg, the writer; Mary Thomas plays Lovborg's mistress; Margaret Phillips is Miss Juliane Tesman, the sister-in-law; and Jean McGill plays Berta, the maid.

"Repertory '67" performs six nights weekly throughout the summer. Four plays are in the series: "Room Service," "Charley's Aunt," "Hedda Gabler," and "The Subject Was Roses." Schedules are available at the Community Theatre Office in Sunset Center.

Art News...

"Saints and Windows" by Mark Tobey, owned by Arthur Dahl of Pebble Beach, is on loan to Stanford Festival in Palo Alto.

Arthur Dahl Lends Personal Collection to Gallery

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dahl of Pebble Beach have loaned over 50 small paintings by Mark Tobey for exhibition at the Stanford Summer Festival in Palo Alto. The gallery is open Tuesday thru Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sundays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and closed on Mondays. The show opened June 27th will continue thru August 13.

The paintings date back to the late 30's and many have never been publicly displayed before. Some of the paintings relate to Baha'i, the mystical faith founded in Persia in 1860 and embraced by Mark Tobey in 1918. Mr. and Mrs. Dahl met Tobey in 1940 when they accepted Baha'i.

Jacobs Receives Another Feather

Ralph Jacobs, one of the most outstanding painters on the Peninsula, has had another honor bestowed upon him. Jacobs has been selected as one of the special group of the West's finest artists to exhibit in the "Invitational Exhibition of Paintings" at the New Rosicrucian Museum, San Jose.

Paintings represented by Jacobs in the exhibition are a large fruit still life, and his popular award winning painting "Classic Nude," top winner in the 1965 S.W.A. Annual at the de Young Museum. The painting is also reproduced in "Prize Winning Art Book No. 6" published by Allied Publications, Inc., Florida.

The versatile works of Jacobs are gaining continual popularity and finding their way in many collections far and wide. He is the owner of Jacobs Gallery here which features his work exclusively in Carmel Square on San Carlos between Ocean and 7th streets.

Fine Arts at County Fair

More deliberate than nature in blending color is the artist—the painter—and the Fine Arts display at this year's County Fair will present colorful and masterful water colors, oils, collages and graphics produced by some of the best artists in the nation.

In the painting department will also be the combined talents of Marcia McGinnis and Joan Snow, local commercial artists from here. Fairgoers from last year will remember the creative decorations festooning the oak trees and light standards throughout the fairgrounds; this year Marcia and Joan promise to outdo themselves in "Theme Decoration."

Skaalegaards Current Exhibit

Skaalegaard's current exhibit features "Old West Buildings" in egg tempera by talented Bruce Glen and colorful landscapes and seascapes by renowned Robert Glen.

Skaalegaard's is also presenting paintings by some of America's most distinguished artists—Thomas Leighton, Margery Lester, Charles B. Rogers, T. Mikami, E. J. Hugentobler, and Richard Pearsall. Ships by Hans Skaalegaard will remain on display in the Marine Room.

Mike Raggett Takes Bride

Lt. Michael Mark Raggett, U.S.N., took as his bride Miss Michelle Yvonne Benson in a late afternoon ceremony last Saturday at St. John's Episcopal Church in Marysville, the Reverend Thomas Power officiating. Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Raggett of Pebble Beach while Michelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Laver Benson of Yuba City.

Michelle chose for her wedding a gown of white silk organza designed by Priscilla of Boston, who designed the gown worn by Luci Johnson for her wedding in Washington.

Her Empire bodice and A-shaped skirt were heavily appliqued with floral patterned medallions of hand-cut and re-embroidered Alencon lace. It had three-quarter sleeves edged with a double Victorian ruffle of the same lace. Tiny medallions of Alencon lace were scattered over a very full chapel length train. Her silk illusion finger tip veiling was caught to a specially designed cap of hand-fashioned organza flowerlets, with scalloped border of Alencon lace. She carried a sweetheart bouquet of white daisies, backed with fern with white streamers.

Michelle's maid of honor was her sister, Miss Cheryl Benson of Yuba City who wore a moss green organza gown fashioned after the bridal gown. The same design, in pale yellow silk organza was used for the bridesmaid's dresses worn by Miss Judy Peart and Miss Anne Royce of San Francisco, and Miss Janey Conkey of Yuba City. They all carried bouquets of yellow marguerite daisy sweetheart bouquets.

The reception was held in the garden of the bride's parents' home in a woodsy setting, with daisies and mums in yellow banking the pool area. Her mother wore a pale green sheath with matching accessories and Glamellia corsage. Mrs. Raggett wore an Italian import, citron colored in jacquard pattern designed by Lilli of Carmel. Citron colored shoes and flowered headpiece completed her costume and she wore a white orchid on her handbag.

Michelle attended Raymond College, took her B.A. degree at the University of the Pacific and has a teaching credential from San Francisco State College. Mike is a graduate of Carmel schools and a 1962 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

After a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe, the young couple will make their home in Idaho Falls, Idaho where Mike will be a naval instructor in the nuclear reactor base there. Mike, for the last two years, has been serving on a nuclear submarine based in Honolulu.

He used to be associated with Steve Crouch as a photographer and is a senior at Covell College of the University of the Pacific. After graduation next June, the young couple will move to Phoenix, Arizona where Roger will study for a Master's degree at the American Institute for Foreign Trade. ## Barbara Hately Marries Bain McMillan Smith

Two pedestals holding large brass bowls of alba auratum lilies, baby's breath and graceful fronds stood beside the altar of All Saints' Episcopal Church, before which Barbara Joanne Hately and Bain McMillan Smith were married at four in the afternoon of Saturday, July 1. Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hately Jr. of Pebble Beach while Bain is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McMillan Smith of Carmel.

The Reverend David Hill officiated at the ceremony for which sister, Miss Deborah Smith of Carmel, Miss Sally Leonard of Pebble Beach, Mrs. Riley Wilson of Carmel and Miss Cynthia Knapp of San Francisco. Their long gowns were of French blue dotted Swiss with cap sleeves, high rounded neck lines, and A-line skirts with back bows of green velvet. Their Italian leghorn straw hats were trimmed with green velvet bows and streamers and they carried garden bouquets of white daisies and geraniums with blue forget-me-nots, surrounded by geranium

Mr. Arthur Hately led his daughter down the central aisle which was banked with maiden hair fern and white gypsophila.

Barbara wore a classic Empire gown of white point d'esprit lace with small cap sleeves. Her tiered veil of fine French net which fell softly about her shoulders was held by a circlet of lace, and she carried a flowing bouquet of stephanotis, white Tiara roses and lilies of the valley, sprinkled with blue forget-me-nots.

For her maid of honor, Barbara chose her sister, Pamela, and for her bridal attendants another sister, Sheila, the bridegroom's

Douw Hamilton Smith of Carmel served as his brother's best man. Ushers were school friends from San Francisco and Los Angeles.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hately chose a pink lace afternoon dress with a darker flower hat. The bridegroom's mother wore a yellow Alaskine dress adorned with windowpane jewelery, with a matching coat, and veil-bow hat. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curtis of Piedmont, the bride's maternal grandparent were here for the wedding and reception for several hundred guests which was held in the gaily decorated courtyard of the Allen Griffins, grandparents of the bride. Decorations carried out the garden flower theme of the bridesmaids' bouquets.

Barbara, a graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls and of Garland Junior College in Boston, was a San Francisco Cotillion debutante in 1965. Bain, a graduate of Menlo College and Stanford University, will return to San Francisco State College to study for his master's degree in English. He has been an English instructor at York School in Monterey. Their honeymoon is being spent on a farm near Newcastle, Maine, belonging to Barbara's great-aunt, Mrs. John T. Rowland, who was also able to be present at the wedding.

Anne Holt Layton Marries James Bryson Temple

At a secluded spot at River Ranch overlooking the Truckee River near Lake Tahoe, Anne Holt Layton, daughter of Mrs. Rody B. Holt of Carmel and the late Edison A. Holt of San Francisco, was married to James Bryson Temple in a small family wedding on Saturday of July 8.

Given in marriage by her brother, Edison A. Holt, Jr., Anne wore a light blue linen coat dress trimmed with gold buttons and she carried a bouquet of daisies, forget-me-nots, white roses and stephanotis. Mrs. Nancy Sessions Dundon of Carmel, the bride's only attendant, wore a beige linen frock and carried a bouquet of summer flowers. Mr. Bud Rutherford of Lake Tahoe served as best man.

Anne attended Santa Catalina School for Girls. Her young daughter, Elise Layton, was present for the ceremony. Her sister, Mrs. Gerard F. Franken (Elsie Holt) makes her home in Naarden, Holland. A luncheon at River Ranch followed the service for which Mrs. Holt wore a yellow linen costume.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Union Temple of Lake Tahoe. He has a sister Leslie, and a brother, Neil, who live there also. He is a graduate of Monterey Peninsula College. After a summer at Tahoe, the newlyweds will enroll at San Jose State College where they will continue their education.

A Son for Captain Bill Wallace

An excited long distance call from Fort Knox, Kentucky where Captain Bill Wallace is stationed with his family, informed Mrs. De Forest Sweeney of the birth of a new grandson, Scott Allan, born on June 30.

Bon Voyage Supper

Others present were Mrs. Anderson's aunt, Mrs. Ivy Sinclair, Kay Hilliard, the food writer for CALIFORNIA HOMES, Mrs. Edna Collingwood, Mrs. Doris Brand, and Miss Florence Upright.

Motor Trip to Baja

AN EXCITING APPROACH TO GLOBAL LIVING

by Dorothy Johnson

ARTHUR L. DAHL is a patron of the arts, president of the Bach Festival, trustee of several educational institutions, and sits on the boards of both The Carmel Foundation and The Monterey Fund for Education. He is the author of much widely read literature on the Baha'i Faith, including "A Pattern For Future Society." In addition to these widely diversified interests, he represents a San Francisco investment concern with offices in Carmel, and he is probably the only Chartered Financial Analyst on the Monterey Peninsula.

His daily life sets forth a testament of dedicated efforts and tireless devotion to the spiritual unification of man. "Actually," he said, "I live it day by day—moment by moment!" A working member of the Baha'i Faith, which may hold the key to the solution of most of the critical problems of our age, Mr. Dahl was elected for the first time to The National Spiritual Assembly of the United States in 1957. He has been re-elected to that office each year thereafter, and is now its treasurer as well. He considers it the most ecumenical of all faiths.

Some may think that he is spreading himself a bit thin, but this is not the case. One immediately notices a startling harmony in his actions. His scope is elastic, adjustable to the time and the job. His conception takes in world order—a philosophical synthesis that emphasizes the staying power of the family man.

"Broadly speaking," Mr. Dahl declared, "the crucial issues fall into three areas. Politico-Economic. Societal. Individual." He has reached the inescapable conclusion that the ultimate solution to the problems of twentieth century man must be approached from a global standpoint—must be universally applied—and must come to grips with the decline of spiritual unity and vitality.

"If we can bridge that spiritual gap," he predicted, "we will be well on our way to an integrated planetary civilization..." Finally, he advocates the independent investigation of truth on the part of each individual, free of all coercion, based on serious and unfettered study.

It goes without saying that Arthur Dahl's main hold is his religious faith. However, as our conversation opened up the world of art, his taste is skillfully adapted to his intended purpose and its important realities. To him, there is, in the absolute, no such thing as good style or bad style in one's expression. "The question is," he smiled, "does it accomplish the intention?"

"In 1945, Arthur and his wife, Joyce started collecting the paintings of Mark Tobey, a Baha'i artist, who is now considered one of the foremost living painters in the world. Tobey is most famous for his innovative "white writing" technique and his assumption that the highest reality is spiritual rather than physical. William C. Seitz of The Museum of Modern Art in New York says, "As a purely autonomous phenomenon, the slow growth and sudden crystallization of Tobey's art is a thing of beauty, an affirmation of human sensibility and commitment."

Winning the international prize at the Venice "Biennale" in 1958, Tobey became the first American artist to win this coveted award since James Abbott McNeill Whistler, in 1895, left his imprint on European art. In 1961, seven of the Dahl's paintings, probably the largest private collection of Tobey's work in the world, were loaned for a one man show in Paris at the Louvre where he was the first living artist, not French, to be accorded this honor.

About three years ago, Arthur and Joyce again loaned a part of their private Tobey collection to The American Federation of Arts in Carmel, where it had a splendid reception. From mid-June through August, 1967, more than 50 of Tobey's works are in an exhibit at the Stanford Art Gallery. Mr. Dahl told me that many of these paintings have never before been publicly displayed.

Another of their prized collections is from the works of Emile Norman, whose sculptures mainly focus on birds, animals and fish indigenous to our coast. The supreme quality in his special genre is, of course, a product of a unique talent and an ingenious imagination—yet one cannot suppress the feeling that Mr. Norman himself crawls completely inside his sculptures, like a tortoise, to make them come alive.

On to Carmel's Bach Festival and Arthur Dahl's love of music—"played the clarinet in high school," he said, "although I didn't keep it up. However, it increased my understanding of music—and developed a lifelong pattern of listening." Today, he collects records of many schools of music: from Bach and Palistrina to modern jazz. "Quality is the important thing," Mr. Dahl explained, "and it must hold some significance for me..."

A friend of Maestro Sandro Salgo, who has directed the Festival for twelve years, he said, "I heartily approve of Salgo's basic policy, which is to strive for excellence of performance and ever broadening scope of the repertory." Salgo's first love is his interpretation of Baroque era music. "Although he likes the Classic and Romantic periods, too," Mr. Dahl said, thoughtfully, "Somehow the approach of contemporary composers seems to exhilarate him. Their impetus makes him fly!"

Tired of the urban environment, Arthur and Joyce, with their four boys, Keith, Arthur Lyon, Roger and Gregory, all Baha'is, first came to Carmel in 1955 from Palo Alto. All their youngsters attended Robert Louis Stevenson School, where their father presently serves on the board, and has, continuously,

Arthur L. Dahl, A spiritual dynamic picking up the pieces and beginning all over again. But, for those of us who are not yet dead, there is still one more chance to take Arthur Dahl's exciting approach to global living.

Change In Park Fees

Starting July 10, at most state park campgrounds a family or group traveling in two vehicles and willing to share a campsite can save either $2 or $1 a night, depending on the services provided.

Here's how it will work:

The regular fee per vehicle per night at Type A campgrounds with modern restrooms and hot showers is $3. At Type B campgrounds with modern restrooms but no hot showers it is $2. Until now, a group with more than one vehicle but occupying only one campsite paid the regular fee for each vehicle.

Under a change ordered by State Parks and Recreation Director William Penn Mott Jr. the first vehicle will pay the regular fee but the second vehicle, either with or without a trailer, gets in for $1.

There are two qualifications. The vehicles must fit in their campsite's parking space, which generally will accommodate one car and an 18 ft. house trailer, and the rule of not more than eight persons to a campsite still stands.

The change does not affect Type C campgrounds, which generally do not have flush toilets, where the regular overnight fee per vehicle is only $1.

Antique Sale and Show

The tenth annual Monterey Peninsula Antique Show and Sale, presented by St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church of Pacific Grove, has been set for July 13, 14 and 15 at the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

The Show and Sale will be open from noon to 10 p.m. on July 13 and 14, and from noon to 6 p.m. on July 15 in the Exposition Building at the Monterey County Fairgrounds. Exhibitors from all parts of California traditionally participate in this show and sale.

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Chandler Meloy

Big Sur Camp-Out and Sunday Concert at 8:00 p.m. in Chapel.

After enjoying the Giants-Dodgers game last Saturday in San Francisco, the Summer School students will spend this weekend at Big Sur, camping out and dining "alfresco."

The weekend camp-outs are a tradition at the school, and include hiking, fishing, boating, field sports, and an "ol swimmin' hole" in the river, complete with a tire swing.

Saturday night is devoted to campfire-singouts and a community dance, with the Rev. C. E. "Coach" Wilson having outdoor religious services on Sunday morning. "Coach" also acts as head chef, as he has for nine years, with help from Athletic Director Dick Zury, Ed Brown, Dean of Boys, will organize the camp, and Headmaster Ricklets will join the boys for many of the weekend activities.

MUSIC: THE HIDDEN VALLEY CHAPEL CONCERT will continue this week, with coffee served at 7:30 p.m. and the classical program of orchestra and chorale starting at 8:00 p.m. The public is invited to attend these magnificent concerts in the beautiful Erdman Memorial Chapel on the campus. Selections last week were featured from Handel, Felix Mendelssohn and Brahms. No program is scheduled for Bach Festival Weekend as the students will be attending the world famous Carmel program as a "field trip."

ART: One of the highlights of the summer program this year is the Art program, directed by Artist-in-Residence Richard Pearsall. Pearsall, who is a world famous artist in his own right, gives both classroom instruction and private seminars to the boys. Outstanding art work of the summer students will be shown in a campus competition, and will be open to the public the last week in July.

MARINE BIOLOGY: An always popular course, especially for those boys who live inland or are from Southern California or out-of-state, is conducted by staff instructor Donald Gordon, with help from summer counselor (and last year's student body president) Larry Kuechler. With the great interest in sea shore life that abounds in the Monterey Region (that attracts so many students from leading universities and colleges in the world) the boys are given daily field trips to discover tide pools, study maps showing such unusual areas as the off-shore Monterey Canyon, and spend time at Pt. Lobos, Moss Landing and other points of interest. This unique course is considered one of the leading high school summer experiences in the United States.

VAILIMA: The student literary magazine is still available through the school business office or in local bookstores. A "rich reading experience," it highlights the prose and poetry of outstanding students collected from the previous year. Selections from the summer will be included in next year's book.

WHERE BUT CARMEL...

Could this restaurant conversation have been overheard?

Meeting for luncheon were four spry ladies, respective ages 86, 84, 73 and 71. As they rose from their table, Eighty-six invited her companions to join her at home for bridge.

"Love to," Eighty-four accepted. But Seventy-three declined, "I'm tired just from coming downtown to lunch."

"Sorry," regretted Seventy-one, "but it's already past my afternoon nap time."

When the latter two had left, the senior lady turned to friend Eighty-four.

"Younger people just have no stamina nowadays," she declared.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Catch of the Day Triumph"

Good fishing is good eating, both America's favorite sport when enjoyed out-of-doors, the catch of the day straight from its native waters and onto the fire. Carmel Valley's rippling river and prolific Monterey Bay offer some of the best fishing extant. Salmon are plentiful now and when broiled to succulent perfection on a fish grill shaped to hold your prize (as shown in picture) nothing could taste more exciting. Made of tin-coated steel this barbecue fish grill is the latest in fishing gear. We are giving specific instructions on how to cook fish to mouth watering perfection without tribulation.

Stuffed Grilled Whole Fish

Three lbs. fresh salmon, dressed and left whole; salt, pepper and paprika;  $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp. fresh (or dried) crumbled dill; 6 tbsps. butter; 1 onion, chopped; 3 crumbled shredded wheat biscuits;  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. fresh spinach, snipped, or 1 (10-oz.) pkg. frozen chopped spinach, thawed; 1 beaten egg; lemon juice and wedges.

Sprinkle cavity and outside of salmon, bass, trout or any firm fleshed fish, with salt, pepper, paprika and dill. Saute onion in half of butter until golden. Add crumbled shredded wheat and toast lightly while stirring. Add spinach and mix well, using some lemon juice for flavor. Remove from heat; stir in egg. Spoon into cavity and rub outside with remaining butter. Wrap in foil and roast over glowing coals in special fish grill, turning once, for 30 minutes or until done. Serve with lemon wedges. Makes 6 half-pound servings. The stuffing may be prepared at home to simplify preparation.

Barbecued Vegetables

Bring along a large regular grill on which to barbecue your choice of fresh vegetables. Here are four great ideas.

Barbecued Eggplant

One large eggplant; 3 slices bacon, cubed; 1 onion;  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup tomato steak sauce; 1 tsp. seasoned salt.

Leave skin on egg plant and cut into  $\frac{1}{8}$  inch slices. Put into enough cold water to cover slices along with  $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp. salt. Weigh the slices down with a cover. Let stand 15 minutes. Drain. Use a disposable foil broiler pan. Put cubed bacon on bottom; then slices of eggplant and thin slices of onion sprinkled with seasoned salt and steak sauce. Cover pan with foil, sealing around top. Put on grill when charcoal has turned gray. Allow about 25 minutes, depending on fire, to cook this mixture. Shake pan frequently. Serves 6.

Carmel Valley Corn

Husk fresh corn and remove silk. Place each ear in double thickness of heavy duty foil and spread with melted mixture of  $\frac{1}{2}$  melted butter and  $\frac{1}{2}$  peanut butter. Wrap tightly and place over hot coals. Turn frequently and cook until done, about 25 minutes. It's the dash of peanut butter that makes this recipe different and anglers go for it with gusto. But in case you aren't a peanut butter fan, wrap thinly sliced bacon in a spiral around the husked corn, now into its foil, wrap, then grill! Season to individual taste after the cooking is over.

Silver-Herbed Carrots on the Grill
One lb. young carrots;  $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp.

CATCH OF THE DAY TREAT: Fishing is becoming a favorite sport in America! So while you are out along the seashore, or following a trout's playful way upstream, prepare a special feast. Stuff the catch with a savory mixture of Shredded Wheat, spinach and spices, and grill to mouth watering perfection.

each, seasoned salt and dried thyme; 2 tbsps. butter.

Wash and scrub tender small carrots. Cut into  $\frac{1}{4}$  long angle slices. Put in disposable boiler pans or divide ingredients into packets, first adding butter. Next arrange carrot slices and sprinkle with salt and thyme. Seal top of broiler pan with sheet of foil. Shake pan often while on hot charcoal grill for about 25 minutes. Serves 4. Leftovers are always good, so double recipe without trepidation.

Barbecued Zucchini and Onions

Four zucchini, sliced; 2 red onions sliced; 1 pkg. Italian salad dressing mix; 2 tbsps. wine vinegar;  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup live or vegetable oil; 2 tbsps. grated Parmesan cheese.

Place sliced zucchini and onion on sheet of heavy duty foil; fold up sides to make container or use disposable foil broiler pan. To the dry salad dressing mix, add vinegar and oil; pour over vegetables and sprinkle with cheese. Fold foil for sealed packet or cover pan with foil. Place on grill over hot coals for about 25 minutes. Shake foil pan often. Turn packets once during cooking. Makes 4 servings, depending on appetites. This is a delicious way to do zucchini, almost like a cooked salad, and it can be served warm or cold. Garlic slivers may also be added if desired. All of these go especially well with just caught stuffed whole grilled fish.

Finish up with fresh fruits so plentiful and top notch just now: peaches, nectarines, melons, strawberries, figs and cookies too—Also some California vino and plenty of good coffee. If bread is inevitable, the packaged bread sticks are easiest. Don't forget Monterey Jack cheese!

WHERE BUT CARMEL . . .

Would a long-resident businesswoman move over the hill in outrage because one of the newer downtown commercial buildings was, she considered, "completely inappropriate for Carmel."

"But," she now adds, "they're doing the same thing to Monterey, so I may move back to Carmel."

The Complete Gardener

... a regular diet of information having to do with plants

If you're really serious about producing excellent plants we suggest that you try to maintain a schedule for feeding. This means a supply of basic fertilizers, organic and chemical. These are not hard to acquire, nor expensive. You can fit them into your budget and add a new one each week. The total cost will be but a fraction of the return your plants will give you by having the right food at the right time.

The simple organics include hoof-and-horn-meal, which is used in soil mixes and is considered the most reliable source of organic nitrogen. Cottonseed meal is an acid organic, much slower acting and less potent. The most rapid release of organic nitrogen comes from blood meal. It's a builder of Chlorophyll. Fish meal is highly regarded as food for fuschias and begonias... and cinerarias will appreciate it this month. One of the most popular is castor bean meal, because of its gopher-repelling properties. Milorganite is probably the most widely used organic, both for lawns and gardens. This one supplies all of the necessary minerals and trace elements not available in any other single fertilizer. Most of you are familiar with bone meal. This organic is chiefly a source of phosphoric acid and much too expensive for its true value. Its high price is due to the cost of importing it from the Near East (Israel and Egypt). You can guess what that military fracas has done to exports.

Simple chemical fertilizers are available, too, at nurseries and garden supply stores. These are faster-acting, less costly, and should be used with more caution. In the nitrogen category there is sulphate of ammonia (ammonia sulphate) which is in crystalline form and soluble in water. This is 21% nitrogen and classed as a "hot" fertilizer. It should not be allowed to remain on plant foliage. Superphosphate is 20% phosphoric acid and, we might say, the chemical counterpart of bone meal. Like bone meal it should be placed at root-level, where it will remain until used. Phosphates are "fixed" fertilizers and not subject to heavy leaching. This is the lowest-priced of all fertilizers, more efficient than bone meal and cleaner to handle.

Then there's the combination of nitrogen and phosphoric acid, 16-20-0. This is ammonium phosphate-sulphate, sometimes called amophos. This is an excellent citrus food, during the growing season, and can be used to stimulate growth in open ground plantings of shrubs and trees. It's pelleted and odorless.

Sulphate of potash is the stabilizer—the tougher—the element that strengthens plants against disease and frost damage. It puts the sugar in the fruit and intensifies the color in the bloom. A combination of phosphoric acid and potash is marketed as 0-10-10.

MEDICARE

by Raymond S. MacDonald

Q. Will the entire cost of blood transfusions be covered?

A. The patient may be charged for the first 3 pints of blood furnished him during a spell of illness unless he arranges for donors to replace those first 3 pints.

If the cost of the blood to the hospital is less than the charge to the beneficiary, the difference will be deducted from the payments the program would otherwise make to the hospital. Thus the hospital would not make a profit on the blood for which it charges a beneficiary.

The purpose of this provision is to encourage voluntary blood replacement programs. Under these programs, the hospital will not charge the patient if a donor has replaced the blood or if the patient has arranged for such replacement. The law recognizes, however, that older people may have difficulty in replacing or paying for large quantities one of our most versatile fertilizers. Used at this time of the year 0-10-10 will help to control rapid, weak growth due to an excess of nitrogen. Applications during the fall and winter months will benefit such tender subjects as hibiscus, lantana and bougainvillea. It will improve bud set in camellias and citrus. No complete gardener should be without it. How about fungus in your lawn? See us next week.

ties of blood and therefore covers the costs of blood transfusions in excess of 3 pints.

The blood deductible involves only the cost of the blood itself. Costs incurred by the hospital in administering, storing, and processing whole blood are not part of the whole blood deductible. These costs are covered by the hospital insurance program whether or not blood is replaced.

By Brandy and Pheemy
As Told to Andre Hope

You didn't know we were dachshunds? Well, last July 6's portrait should prove it! We mentioned gerbils, a charming type, miniature kangaroo-type rodent we wouldn't mind seeing around our home; confined, of course. Sorry. That word "rodent" did it. We checked and they are not allowed in California. Guess we have enough pests of our own. We were rather surprised, what with all the pet mice and rats. Guess they have to be born and bred within our State. Goodness knows we have enough, though we always found the San Joaquin Valley field mice rather charming and deer-like.

Thank you to the people who have been writing us and calling us about their furry friends. Would like to report that Missy Shepard, a cat, is about to become a mother. Her friend, Pinky the poodle, is fussing about it. Her mistress, Debby, is watchful. When your little buddies have off-spring, we'd like to know so we can find them homes. Oh, yes, and if you do want to find them new families, please don't name them. A name indicates a personality and then you are lovingly stuck! Imagine giving away "George" or "Luxury" or "Goldy." (Our Champagne's name was "Goldy" and tears were shed on leave-taking.)

As for our other friends, "Cleopatra," a black cat, is recovering from a tail badly mashed by an over-eager driver. There is a very handsome black retriever, either misplaced or de-placed, on the beach between 9th and 11th—no tags and obviously a one man dog. When you inadvertently hook a cormorant or a sea gull on your fishing line, try to reach it and carefully extract the cruel barb or call and wait for the SPCA or local police. It hurts. They tell us so.

Now about the ZOO! We really think the Monterey Peninsula should have one; including an oceanarium. At first a children's zoo where the pets could be patted. Then, our local wild life, which is familiar to us, but not to people who visit from the rest of the country.

As for fish "they're delicious!" (Don't say that, Brandy!) We have a wide variety and could even show the young what a real tide pool looks like. Also, our very own porpoise? The seals on the rocks could come close to us. About the sea otters—we have some of the few "rafts" of them in the world; right now, a world that is growing more and more unattainable to the children of our country. We must have it here on the Monterey Peninsula with some of our more lovely plants exhibited and tagged. "Begonias are delectable." (really, Pheemy!) Write to us at the paper and tell us your ideas.

The tour, which enables those interested in art and the creative processes to get first hand knowledge of the way many Peninsula artists live and work, will cover the homes and studios of painters, sculptors and photographers living in Del Monte Park and on Cannery Row.

Studios to be visited on this year's open house will include those of Marjorie Allen, painter; Frederick Todd and Judy Todd, sculpture, carving and photographer; Traylor Dunwoody, painter and sculpture-designer; Edward Dunn, painter; Marilyn Brown, water colorist; Jesse Corsaut, painter; William Rabinovitch, painter and sculpture; Color Ad Printers, display ads and "new-color" posters; Brooke Elgie, photographer; Sculpture Center showing the works of Gordon Newell, Jim Hunolt, Miles Bates, Cuth Walker, John Gunnels, Bob Kinitich and Jim Clendenon; Virginia Conroy and Pat Carey, versatile artists and Gerald Wasserman, painter.

General Chairman for the event is Mrs. Ray Ramsey with Mrs. Thomson Hudson advisor and Steve Brown Curator.

A brochure, available with all tickets, contains a map showing the location of the studios. Every effort has been made to make the tour route easy to follow for out of town guests. Studios will be numbered to correspond with the directional signs in pink and red that will be posted along the way.

Anais Nin's 2nd Diary Has Been Published

A long-time Carmel resident, Miss Anais Nin, the novelist, is again in the national news because Harcourt Brace has just published the second volume of her DIARY. The first volume (that appeared last year) covered Miss Nin's adventures in Paris from 1931 to 1943 and included her friendship with Henry Miller before his first book was published.

Now the narrative reaches 1939, covering Henry Miller's first taste of recognition as an author, and allows the reader to participate in a thousand other angles of art and literature.

One critic has said of Miss Nin's work: "With courage, shrewdness, and a delicate sense of balance, the clairvoyant walks the tightrope between self-analysis and self-abandonment. All these qualities, and with them no ordinary skill in the manipulation of words and rhythms, are manifest in her work."

This second volume of the DIARY dramatizes the Bohemianism that preceded the beatnik generation and merged into the hip parade of today. It is therefore of more than usual interest for those of us who wonder why the world turned in this particular direction. For insight and appreciation of human values in the various walks of life there is no better guide than this slim lovely woman who is intellectual enough to discount intellect and loving enough to prefer the good of others.

When Miss Nin and her friends, on the last page, are required to leave France at the outbreak of the Second World War, the reader too feels exiled from the romantic life.

Truman Moore has been recently appointed manager of The Shoe Box on Dolores Street, announced James Rowe following Lloyd Everman's resignation. Among the improvements Mr. Moore plans is to expand the men's department so they can broaden their selection.

Mr. Moore and wife Fran moved to the Monterey Peninsula from Oklahoma City in 1955. He started in the shoe sales in 1927. In 1959 Mr. Moore started working for the Shoe Box and the Village Shoe Tree.

Tax Rate Might Be Lower This Year

During the preceeding month when the City Councilmen were working long hours toward giving City employees their due salary raises, talk of a TAX RAISE crept into the discussions; but this was before the State requested of the County to reassess property values. Hardest hit by this were Carmel and Del Monte Properties.

This rise in property taxes might not be as bold and exasperating to some as it seems on the surface, for it could mean that the overall City tax rate will be lowered to withstand this increase.

As a matter of fact when Councilman Gunnar Norberg was contacted concerning this question of a tax raise, he said, "I'm in favor of a DECREASE in the tax rate because of this reassessment." Councilman William Sefton said, "We have every reason to have lower rates than last year," and Councilman Eben Whittlesey felt "there should be no direct effect on taxes, but I can't say definitely because I haven't had a chance to get the proper information as of this time." Councilman Herb Blanks and Mayor Steve Grant were not available for comment.

Norberg, who evidently has given this considerable thought, as has Councilman Sefton, said that the 28.8% average rise in assessment should bring into the City about $70,000, which should take care of the $50,000 for the salary increases approved earlier this month. He added that this would leave $20,000 for the City to work with or use to lower the tax rate.

Sefton agreed that it is very possible for a rate reduction, and emphasized that the City Government would be just as frugal and tight with this extra money as they would if they didn't have it. Sefton also mentioned that he is interested in reducing the rate to compensate for the rise in property taxes. "I only hope that this will be the thinking of the School District as well as all other governmental bodies," Sefton stressed.

Norberg seems to be in favor, too, of having a board of supervisors come to Carmel to hear protests by the Carmel citizens who are not able to get to Salinas. "If they will not come here, then maybe the City Council can be appointed as a board of equalization," he said.

It seems at this moment the City will have a reduction in rate which will compensate for the rise in assessment. Of course this will not help everyone, but it will be of benefit to most.

Mission Ranch Takes Farm Title

MISSION RANCH took the 1967 Farm League Pennant in an impressive 4-1 win over the ROCKY POINT nine Saturday at the Carmel-Little League field.

A tight race that carried the season a week beyond closing day ceremonies saw Orville Jones' CYPRESS PLUMBING team edged out in a 2-1 extra-inning cliff hanger to break the second-half tie and move MISSION RANCH into the championship playoff. The hard driving ROCKY POINT club, managed by Doug Graham, had gone undefeated in the first-half series.

MISSION RANCH pitchers Greg Cater and Jimmy Reimer limited the opposition to three hits and a walk with the aid of sharp fielding highlighted by the play of Tony Spear at second and the hustling catcher, Kim Cater. George Booth managed the Pennant Winners. Pitcher John Mearns and catcher Richard Beach were outstanding for the ROCKY POINT team that kept the game in doubt to the last out.

Two other exhibition games followed, with Carmel SPORT SHOP defeating the Carmel Valley VOLUNTEERS, 2-1, and the Carmel champion BOYS TOWN losing a tough 6-3 decision to the Carmel Valley champion RED SOX, to close out the season.

to the proposed annexation, may appear before the City Council of said City and show cause why such territory should not be annexed to said City. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the lot and block number of such property.

4. The City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea is hereby directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published on July 13, and July 20, 1967, in the Carmel Pine Cone.

5. The City Clerk is further directed to mail a copy of this resolution to each owner of land within said area proposed to be annexed and to such other persons as may be legally entitled thereto, in the manner required by law.

hand an exhibition of the Closed Mind and how it functions.

Carmel citizens who wish to protest the assessment of their property will have to appear before the Board of Supervisors sitting as a board of equalization in order to do so. In their interest, Mr. Gunnar Norberg proposed that the Supervisors be requested to hold some of their meetings in Carmel in order to ease the burden of transportation for many who might find it difficult or impossible to go to Salinas.

With a variety of weak excuses for so doing, the other council members turned down Mr. Norberg's motion, refusing to even pass on the request to the Board.

In case Carmelites think they have representation on the council, I should like to point out that they have — Mr. Norberg.

Sincerely,
Marian Thomas

newly revised budget. It disclosed that based on an estimated 5.5% increase in the assessed valuation of the Carmel business district and Pebble Beach, the 37 cent override approved by the voters on March 7, 1967 amounts to $246,148. ($70,067,005 x 105.5% x .37 x 90%).

The extra money paid for a full time psychologist, a music teacher, another counselor at the High School, another counselor for the Middle School, 8½ new teachers (growth and ratio reduction), a psychologist's secretary, a bus driver, a custodian, two grounds-men, two painters, two maintenance men, and increase from 3 to 6½ hours per day of three library clerks, as well as a 91-passenger coach, additional Library books, health insurance, maintenance materials and other expenses.

Superintendent Dr. Harris Taylor, made a recommendation to the board, that consistent with its pledge to maintain the traditional quality of education in the District but with concern for the local taxpayer, that it levy only 27 cents of the 37 cent tax override which was successfully passed on March 7, 1967.

The ability of the District to levy 10 cents less per $100 of assessed valuation was made possible by the recent reassessment of real property in a portion of the District. This reduction is consistent with the amount the assessed valuation exceeded the estimates utilized during the March 7th tax override election.

The entire budget will now amount to $2,914,692 with undistributed reserve of $53,353 based on a tax rate of $2.71 per hundred, instead of $2.81 per hundred.

A public meeting on August 2, at 8:15, was set by the board so that the taxpayers might speak on it.

Administrators' Salaries

A revised salary guide for administrators was adopted, according to which, the least amount an elementary principal with master's degree may make is $13,000, a middle school principal, $13,200, and a high school principal, $14,000 per year. Extra credits and years of experience mean slight increases, up to $17,200 for a high school principal or director of elementary curriculum holding a doctorate.

Mr. Clayton Neill, Jr. was elected president of the board, while Mr. Steven Sassoon was elected clerk. As Mr. Neill's first assignment of the meeting, he had to straighten out a little difficulty in connection with a clerical error on the part of the County Board of Education, which sent Mr. Curtis A. Pringle a letter certifying that he was elected to the school board in April. Mr. Pringle was happy to withdraw to do some "fishing", but since he had received a recent letter of congratulation from Mr. Ed Coffin's office, he thought he ought to show up and get the thing clarified.

He said he "knew the newly constituted board would do a good job", in line with "fiscal responsibility."

In further business, the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Susan Dean, Spanish teacher at the High School, who said that she could not afford to live in Carmel and support her children adequately. Miss Nancy Loyd, talented English teacher at the Middle School was granted a year's leave of absence to teach in Germany.

Four new teachers were hired: Patrick J. Allan, who will bring to two the number of male teachers at River School, Miss Sandra Giffin, Spanish teacher for the Middle School, Richard L. Hilton, English teacher for the Carmel High School, and Mrs. Mary Kalinyak, a business education teacher for the High School.

New school principals were introduced: Dr. James Halpin, who will head River School; Mr. George Gustaphson, Tuleacitos, Mr. Arthur Gumbrell, the High School, and Mr. Ed McCurry, who will be principal for both Woods and Carmelo Schools.

John Gosling Resigns

throughout the country, and it is a credit to the Association that its conductors have gained valuable experience and repertoire which has enabled them to progress in their careers."

President James M. R. Glaser expressed the Committee's regret and appreciation for all that had been done during Gosling's leadership of the orchestra including the founding of the Monterey County Symphony Youth Orchestra.

deJong has served as conductor of the San Leandro Symphony Orchestra since 1959, and started his musical training at the age of seven studying to become a concert pianist.

Highlights of deJong's musical career include winning a scholarship to the Amsterdam Conservatory of Music and working with conductor Anton van der Horst. In 1954, he received the coveted Antal Dorati Award in a nationwide competition, which provided a year of private study with Dorati and the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

The new gifted conductor, his wife Kit, and their son Peter, will make their home on the Monterey Peninsula.

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra will receive the rating of "urban orchestra" by the American Symphony League which places it among the first 100 orchestras out of some 1400 such groups in the United States. This designation is based on the orchestra's repertoire, guest artists, an audience numbering 20,000 people, youth activities, in addition to founding the Youth Orchestra, budget and standard of performance. Mr. Glaser attributed part of this success to the work and help of many dedicated people and organizations.

The Friends of Photography announced that there is no reception scheduled for July as appeared in last week's Pine Cone, but did announce that a new showing schedule will be forthcoming: Friends of Photography will be open from 1 to 5:30 p.m. daily except Mondays; 9 to 4 p.m. Sundays; during evening events through July 31.
